THE QUALITY OF A BUGGY

SHOWS IN ITS USE.

If you want a buggy of which you can always be sure we have it. It will OUT-WEAR, OUT-LOOK and OUT-STAY any buggy made anywhere by anybody, (no exception whatever) and look better when you have gotten tired of it than most buggies do after 1 or 2 years use. This sounds big and might seem like WIND, but we are back of it all. Our guarantee on this buggy is the strongest ever given on ANY BUGGY by ANY FIRM.

"We guarantee it fully against any defect in material for TWO YEARS from date of purchase. For one year we guarantee wheels, axles, springs, running gear and shafts AGAINST BREAKAGE from any cause whatever. No questions asked at all. If your horse runs away, if you drive over a stump, in fact an accident of any kind breaking up your buggy will be fully covered."

That is the quality of this buggy and the price right. We still have the best, cheap, buggy ever sold in this county. Let us show them to you.

DR. TALMAGE DEAD.

Great Presbyterian Preacher Passes Away.

Probably the Most Conspicuous Pulpit Orator in America.

Washington, April 12.—The Rev. Dr. Talmage, D. D., the noted Presbyterian divine, died at 9 o'clock to-night at his residence in this city. It had been evident for some days that there was no hope for his recovery.

Dr. Talmage's Eventful Life.

Thomas DeWitt Talmage was born January 7, 1832, at Bound Brook, N. J. He was educated in the University of the City of New York and was graduated from the New Brunswick Theological seminary in 1856. His first pastorate was at Belleville, N. J., in the Presbyterian church. In 1859 he went to Syracuse, N. Y., and in 1862 became located in Philadelphia. There he remained seven years, when he was called to the pastorate of the Central Presbyterian church in Brooklyn.

Dr. Talmage remained in Brooklyn until about eight years ago. It was during his Brooklyn pastorate that Dr. Talmage gained his greatest fame. There he gathered large numbers of followers and acquired a national reputation for effective but rather sensational pulpit orator. His sermons were widely read and soon Dr. Talmage was called upon to furnish his sermons in advance for publication simultaneously in the Monday morning papers throughout the country. This involved great labor. Dr. Talmage took several tours about the world. He wrote his sermons far in advance and preached them wherever he chanced to be, whether on the ocean or in India.

Dr. Talmage's congregation in Brooklyn built him a church in 1870 having a capacity of 3,400, so great was the demand to hear him, nearly every visitor to New York crossing over to Brooklyn to hear him. This building was soon enlarged to accommodate 500 more people. The next year it was destroyed by fire. Then the congregation built a church with a seating capacity of 5,000, and it was often filled to the utmost.

For many years, so great was the demand, Dr. Talmage also preached on Sunday afternoons in the Academy of Music in New York, besides preaching two sermons in his Brooklyn church. After the second burning of his church in 1900, Dr. Talmage preached in the Academy of Music and devoted the next few years to travel.

NEW L. & N. TIME CARD.

Accommodation Arrives—Change in Fast Trains.

Several changes were made in the schedule of L. & N. trains on this division, effective last Sunday. The Hopkinsville accommodation, which formerly arrived here from Nashville at 8:25 p. m., now reaches this city at 8:45 p. m. With this change much better connection is made at Guthrie with trains from Memphis and Louisville.

No. 91, the Chicago and St. Louis Limited, which formerly left here at 10:48 p. m., now departs at 11:58 p. m. No. 92 departs at 5:37 a. m., instead of 6:05 a. m.

FORMERLY OF CHRISTIAN.

Shelby Bradshaw Passes Away in McCracken County.

Mr. Shelby Bradshaw, formerly a citizen of this county, died Saturday at his home near Woodville, McCracken county. He was 78 years of age and moved from Christian county to McCracken in 1856. He left a widow and three children, Mrs. Dannie Carrahan, James Bradshaw and Richard Bradshaw, all of near Paducah.

GEN. HAMPTON DIES.

South Carolina's Noblest Son Crosses The River.

Fought for the South and Saved His State from the Hordes of the Carpetbaggers.

Columbia, S. C., April 11.—Gen. Wade Hampton died this morning at 9 o'clock.

His death resulted not from any disease, but was the result of a general break-down.

Gen. Hampton celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday last week. A month ago he had a severe attack and his children were called to his bedside. He rallied, however, and was out driving a week ago.

In the last few days his condition had grown rapidly worse and was pronounced precarious last night by his physicians.

The end came peacefully, he being conscious almost to the last.

The whole city and state are in mourning. The capitol building and many private residences are being draped in crape.

Wade Hampton was one of the seven surviving lieutenant general of the Confederacy, the others being Gordon and Longstreet of Georgia, Lee of Mississippi, Buckner of Kentucky, Lee of Virginia, and Wheeler of Alabama. He was one of the greatest men ever produced by the Confederacy, as a governor and as United States senator he achieved splendid records.

His work as a statesman equaled his career as a soldier. To Hampton more than any other man was due the reclamation of the state at the close of the re-construction period. He organized the best people of the state and wrested the reins of power from the carpet-bag regime.

A few years ago his home burned, but although aged and poor, he refused to allow the people of South Carolina to rebuild it for him by popular subscription.

'SLUSHER'S WOUND FATAL.

Deputy Sheriff Who Shot Himself Dies at Pineville.

Pineville, Ky., April 11.—Bailiff R. W. Slusher, who was accidentally shot Wednesday night, died at 5 this morning. He settled his business affairs yesterday afternoon and was conscious until 11 o'clock, meeting his end calmly. He had come to the mountains to get wideness for the trial of Berry Howard.

GIVEN SEVEN YEARS.

Embezzling Bank Cashier at Louisville Sentenced by Judge Evans.

Louisville, Ky., April 11.—German, the embezzling bank cashier, was sentenced to seven years in the federal court to-day.

The Bride is Thirteen.

Mayking, Ky., April 11.—At Colly, two miles west of Mayking, an interesting wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon when George Adams, Jr., aged eighteen, married Miss Lizzie Haynes, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Isam Haynes, John A. Craft, Circuit Court Clerk, officiating.

Is Utley a Candidate?

Louisville, April 8.—Though N. W. Utley, of Lyon county, president protem, of the senate, declared when the legislature adjourned that he was done with politics, he intimated to some friends at Seelbach's hotel that he might be a candidate for governor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Tandy are expected to return from their bridal tour to-day. They will be at home at Mr. Ford L. Wilkinson's, on South Main street.

Tennessee Business College

Was founded March 5, 1901, and has been in progress ever since, and with the greatest results and encouragement. We have had a large enrollment and have secured positions for every one of our graduates, without a single exception, and many of them are holding some of the most responsible positions, with salaries ranging from $35 to $125 a month. No better school anywhere.

We have four of the very best teachers of experience, who are graduates of the very best colleges in the South.

You can get no better, no more thorough courses anywhere. We are working for our reputation, hence it is to our advantage to thoroughly prepare our students and place them in good positions.

We are connected with three Employment Agencies in other cities and are having many more calls for book-keepers and stenographers every week than we can possibly supply. All you have to do is to take a thorough course with us, and the consequences will take care of themselves.

Our tuition is lower than anywhere else. We have a good boarding house to take all our students at $8 to $10 a month. This school is permanent.

two weeks.

Frank Lashaway, the "bearded woman," is dead. He was a young man of 19 when the civil war broke out and donned petticoats and moved from Michigan to New York to escape being drafted in the army.
After the war he became a "fake "break" in a New York music-hall for many years. He continued to wear female clothing after his sex was discovered at Montague, N. Y., where he made his home.

celebrated his hundred and twenty-ninth birthday recently. The fame of the extraordinary man has penetrated all over the country, and people are in the habit of flocking from all parts to celebrate his birthday. Raby is gradually growing very weak, and his friends are fearful that the old man will not live to see another birthday celebration.

Gallant old General Wade Hampton, one of South Carolina's greatest sons, is dead. He was elected governor of his State in 1876 and when the vote of South Carolina was stolen from Tilden he refused to be counted out, but declared, "I have been elected governor, and by the eternal Gods I'll be governor."
And he was Governor. Although they got the same vote, Tilden was counted in and Hampton was counted in.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urines too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy.

Fired Into the Body of Jas. D. Brown

Desperate and Fatal Fight Between Farmers Near Hawkins.

Jas. D. Brown, a prominent and well known farmer living in the western part of the county, was shot and killed late Thursday afternoon by Wm. Pulley, a tenant on one of his farms.

Pulley had worked for him last year and steps had been taken by Brown to evict him this spring, as he refused to vacate.

In the forenoon Brown stopped payment on Pulley's share of crop of tobacco.

On the evening in question, the men met in the road near Pulley's home, which was about three-quarters of a mile from Brown's house.

Pulley's wife and daughter were the only witnesses and the evidence of the latter at the coroner's inquest makes a very bad case against her father.

Nora Pulley testified as follows: "Wm. Pulley is my father. My age is 19 years. I am unmarried. Mr. Brown and my father went to deliver the last load of tobacco they raised on shares. My father got home about 1 o'clock and he told mother that Mr. Brown had stopped his part of the money that was due him out of the sale of the tobacco. About 4 o'clock I saw Mr. Brown coming home, as he had to pass our gate. I was expecting trouble and I went up stairs where I could see and hear everything that passed between them. Father was at the wood pile chopping stove wood and Mr. Brown rode up and father stopped him and asked him why he had tangled his money up. I then came down stairs and mother and myself went out of doors. Mr. Brown was sitting on his horse and I saw him jerk his pistol out, but do not know whether it came out of his pocket or his saddlebag. He fired two shots at father and jumped off his horse. Father then jerked his pistol out of his hip pocket and shot back at Mr. Brown. Mr. Brown then ran and father ran after him and kept shooting. He ran until he fell. I heard him say to father, 'Will please don't shoot me.' He was lying on the ground begging father not to shoot any more, but father kept on to him and kept shooting. I did not hear any threats from either of them."

Stephen Pulley, aged 11, said that he saw his father shoot at Brown and Brown shoot back at him. Did not see Brown shoot first. Saw Brown running and his father shooting at him. Heard Brown say, "Will please don't shoot me." Saw his father shoot him after he fell.

Mrs. Pulley testified, giving about the same version as her daughter. She said Pulley was mad about the tobacco.

J. B. Hopson testified that Pulley told him of the killing.

A. W. B. Maloney stated that he and Hopson found Brown lying on his back across a ditch near the road, with his right hand over his face and his left hand over his heart, with his hat pulled over his face. He said he picked up at his feet six empty hulls from a 32 calibre pistol.

THE VERDICT.

We the jury summoned by Coroner Allensworth to inquire into the cause of the death of Jas. D. Brown, find from the evidence that he came to his death from six wounds in his body from a pistol in the hands of W. H. Pulley. We further find that said Pulley is guilty of murder.

Brown had $97.50 and a pocket knife in his pockets. The pistol Pulley used was an old fashioned Smith & Wesson, 32 calibre, rim fire, shooting six times.

The coroner's inquest was held Friday, at Brown's home, to which his body had been taken.

While the evidence is conflicting as to which began the fight, the conclusion is irresistible that Pulley armed himself while in anger over the tobacco matter and stopped Brown as he passed and either began the trouble or provoked it and ran the man down to his death, shooting him after he fell and while begging for his life. Not only this, but he stood at the dying man's feet and reloaded his pistol and afterwards shot him again and again, as nine balls were accounted for in Brown's body and clothing.

When it is considered that the witnesses are all members of Pulley's family, the killing has all the appearance of a brutal murder.

Brown fired several shots at Pulley, probably as he ran, one of which struck him in the left shoulder, inflicting a slight wound. After emptying his pistol, Brown threw the empty weapon back over his shoulder at Pulley.

There were six wounds in Brown's body, five of them fatal. One was in the right breast, one in the center of breast, one above the heart, one in the center of the back, one in the left arm from the rear and one under the left ear. One spent ball was in the lapel of his coat. Two bullet holes were found in the sides of his coat. Nine balls took effect and as Pulley's pistol was a six-shooter at least three balls of the second round must have been fired into the prostate form, probably the one in the head and those in the breast as Brown lay on his back. Pulley was placed under arrest the same night, but on account of his wound was not brought to jail until Friday.

Brown was generally known as Jim D. Brown and was about 55 years old. He was a well-to-do farmer and an influential Republican. He leaves a family.

Pulley is about 45 years old and is also a married man.

The scene of the trouble was near Hawkins, a postoffice between Bainbridge and Macedonia.

Pulley's examining trial will be held next Monday.

DEAD IN BED.

Colored Woman Dies For Want of Medical Aid.

A colored woman named Johnnie Catlett, aged 38 years, was found dead in her bed, on Second street early this morning. She had been living apart from her husband, Lewis Catlett, with only a small child in the house with her. She was in very poor health, in bed much of the time, and her neighbors had been looking after her. When some one called yesterday morning, the woman was dead. The coroner held an inquest and the verdict was that she died from a lack of medical aid.

Bird-Shot For Tiger.

No use to hunt tigers with bird-shot. It doesn't hurt the tiger any and it's awfully risky for you.

Consumption is a tiger among diseases. It is stealthy—but once started it rapidly eats up the flesh and destroys the life. No use to go hunting it with ordinary food and medicine. That's only bird-shot. It still advances. Good heavy charges of Scott's Emulsion will stop the advance. The disease feels that.

Scott's Emulsion makes the body strong to resist. It soothes and toughens the lungs and sustains the strength until the disease wears itself out.

Better Than Pills.

The question has been asked, "In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets superior to pills?" Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take, more mild and gentle in effect and more reliable as they can always be depended upon. Then they cleanse and invigorate the stomach and leave the bowels in a natural condition, while pills are more harsh in effect and their use is often followed by constipation. SHASHED WITH A KNIFE.

Livy Owen Held Over For Cutting Lamar Martin.

The only case of interest in the city court yesterday morning was that of a difficulty of the day before, in which Lamar Martin, who runs a meat wagon, had been badly used by Livy Owen. Dick Berry was also implicated; Martin claiming that Berry had struck him twice and cut him in the throat with a knife. But there being no witness but Martin, the case against Berry was dismissed. The trouble took place in an alley back of Sixth street. Martin has several terrible cuts on his head inflicted by Owen, who was held for the action of the grand jury, in one hundred dollars bond, which he gave.

SWALLOWED TINY FROG

And the Toad Became Fully Developed in Stomach.

A large frog was removed from a New York woman's stomach the other day and she is rapidly recovering from the operation. She had been suffering from a trouble which baffled her physicians for some time. It was finally decided that an operation for appendicitis would be advisable, and she was taken to the Washington Hospital.

A physician performed the operation which revealed that she was not suffering from appendicitis. But the doctors did discover and remove from her stomach a live frog, said to have been five inches long. It is supposed that she swallowed the frog when it was very small, while she was drinking water.

Many so-called "bitters" are not medicines, but simply liquids disguised, so as to evade the law. Prickly Ash Bitters is not one of this class. It is strictly a medicine, acting primarily on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and for the dangerous diseases that attack these organs it is a remedy of the first grade. There is nothing objectionable in its taste, it has an agreeable flavor and is acceptable to the most delicate stomach. R. C. Hardwick, Special Agent.

CURES THE KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is the enemy we have most to fear as a result of the feverish haste of modern civilization. It is a treacherous enemy working out its deadly effect under cover of some trifling symptom, such as head-ache, but persistent backache, dizziness, heart-throbbing, weak digestion, constipation, frequent or diminished passage of urine, scaling urine, sediment in urine.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS

Is a kidney medicine of the greatest merit. Its action is heating and strengthening, quickly relieves aching or soreness in the back, checks wasting or decay of the kidneys, corrects the flow of urine and through its excellent cleansing and regulating effect in the stomach, liver and bowels it specifically restores the strength and ready glow of vigorous health.

GATES' GOBBLE.

Generally Admitted That L. & N. Railroad Has Changed Hands.

New York, April 14.—While no official announcement has been made, all the indications are that John W. Gates has secured so large a block of the stock of the Louisville and Nashville railroad that control rests in his hands. Whether an actual majority of the stock is held by him is a question. On one thing, Wall street is pretty well convinced that August Belmont and his associates have lost control of the road which they have held for so many years.

John W. Gates held a conference of some length with George W. Perkins and other members of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., during the forenoon of Saturday. After this conference had ended, an effort was made to secure a statement as to its object. The only statement made was that of Mr. Perkins, who said:

"Amicable Relations" to Continue.

"Nothing has happened that will tend to disturb generally the amicable relations in the Southern railroad territory."

This was taken as a practical admission that there has been a change in the control of the road. No one would make a statement whether Mr. Gates was acting for himself and his immediate associates, or whether others have made their purchases under the cover of his operations.

As to the report that J. P. Morgan & Co., had gained control of the L. & N. on behalf of the Southern railroad, there is a pretty general denial from all interested.

In spite of this, one rumor is that a great Southern railroad consolidation is contemplated—embracing the L. & N., Southern, Rock Island and Atchafalpa and Pennsylvania.

It is said Gates' purchase of Louisville and Nashville railroad stock was the result of a casual conversation between him and Atchafalpa Co. of Louisville, one of the directors, in which Mr. Cox is said to have told him of the purpose of the directors to sell $50,000 of new stock before its issuance.

A Wonderful Company of Aristocratic Animals.

Prof. Gentry who is acknowledged the foremost animal trainer of the period, and whose company of educated dogs, ponies and monkeys have delighted the denizens of almost every known part of the globe, will shortly visit this city with his company of aristocratic and sagacious animals, some one hundred in number, which it is said, have never been equaled from a point of intelligence. They will arrive in their own private cars and will exhibit under a thoroughly water-proof tent located on Coleman Show Grounds on Saturday, April 19th, 1902, at 3:30 and 8 p. m. The exhibition, which is very attractive to ladies and children especially, will no doubt receive the hearty support of our citizens. The prices of admission are children 15 cents, and adults 25 cents.

TOO FINE FOR USE.

Story with a Moral Told by Grandma Cook.

When Grandma Cook came home from the picnic she asked with interest about the different villagers whom she had seen for the first time, relates a writer in Youth's Companion.

"Who was the handsome young woman who poured the tea?" she asked. "A thin, pale, melancholy girl, very quiet. I did not see her smile once."

"Oh, that," said her niece, "is Annie Gordon. 'She's always that way.' 'Has she lost friends?' She was not in mourning."

"No. Her people are all living; but they are rather commonplace, while Annie is a girl of ideas and originality—almost a genius. She wrote very good poetry at school. But the Gordons are poor. They could not send her to college. She wanted so much to go abroad—to see Greece and Rome; but that, of course, was impossible. She is a saleswoman in Bryce & Potts' store. But she is always melancholy, as you see her now. She lives apart, makes no friends, hardly knows the name of her next-door neighbor. Always turning over in her mind her dreams, I suppose."

"Mrs. Cook knitted in silence a while. 'It puts me in mind of Prudence Maxwell's shawl,' she said. 'Did I never tell you of that? Well, Prudence's uncle bought her a real cashmere shawl when she was a young girl. It was like a picture with its fine texture and dull, wonderful colors. 'Hang it up,' we all said, 'on the wall. Let people enjoy it. Nobody in the village ever saw such a thing. It will be a pleasure to us all.' 'No, indeed!' Prudence said, 'it would fade. I can't spoil it that way.' 'So it was folded in tissue paper, put in a box and hid away. 'Prudence married, but the shawl was not just the thing to wear, even on her wedding morning. Her daughter grew up. We begged Prudence to give it to her as a bridal gift. 'No,' she said, 'I will leave it to her when I die.' 'Well, she did die at last. The box was opened and the shawl lifted out. It fell into rags. The moths had done their work, and all the beauty was wasted. 'Now, neither Annie Gordon nor any other girl has a thought too high or a fancy too fine for every-day use. If she would put their beauty or purity into her talk with her old father and mother or into her relations to the store, they would make her life beautiful and a blessing to the world.'"

SOME GOOD ADVICE.

Given on the Subject of Keeping Position by J. B. Hill.

You can hold your position if you can fit yourself to its mold so as to fill every crevice. Be like a cake. 'At first it is soft, spongy dough, and is poured into a mold which it half fills. As it bakes it rises, and crowds every dent in the mold; it makes a cake larger than the mold will hold. So, young man and young woman, be larger than your mold. After you have filled every crevice and crevice of your position to advantage, work out at the top. It is the largest cake that brings the most money. Always keep your promises. Your employer will never ask you to do more than is possible. Remember that an unfulfilled promise is as bad as a downright untruth. Live within your means. Never let a month pass that you don't put something in the bank. Saving is the first great basic principle in the foundation of success. Dress neatly and plainly, for an employer marks a man as a fool who appraises himself with extravagance and glaring colors. Never try to win the favor of your employer by flandering your fellow workers. Slander always sticks. Show kindness to your fellow employees, but do not let it be forced kindness, for that deserves no thanks. Resolve slowly, and act quickly. Remember, it is better to be alone than in bad company; that you cannot give your employer or yourself full value, if you try to work after a night of dissipation; that silence, like cleanliness, is skin to godliness; and that a clear conscience gives sound sleep and good digestion, and clothes one in an impenetrable coat of mail.—James J. Hill, in Success.

Japan's First Breach of Promise.

One feature of western civilization has just made its first appearance in Japan, where a native woman has brought suit for breach of promise, hitherto an unknown procedure in the land of the chrysanthemum. The lady in question is a wise young widow, who induced her well-to-do wooer to sign an agreement that in case either party wished to back out he should forfeit 1,000 yen to the other. The woman, however, was not to be bound by the agreement.

When a man is drowning his rescue is a question of timely help. It is the same with the lungs. Many a time the doctor says of a man whose condition is hopeless, "If you'd begun in time you might have been cured."

This is especially true when the disease affects the lungs. Delay is dangerous. The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will result in a quick cure of deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, and weak lungs. Even when hemorrhages have been frequent and profuse "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used time and again with the result of a perfect and permanent cure. Mr. McCaskey, of Leeburg, Armstrong Co., Pa., had eighty-one hemorrhages, and after other medical aid had failed he was completely cured by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is no other medicine just as good for "weak" lungs.

"I was in poor health when I commenced using Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mr. Lawrence, of Volga, Jefferson Co., Ind. "I had stomach, kidney and lung troubles. Was not able to do any work. I had a severe cough and hemorrhage of the lungs, but after using your medicine a while I commenced to gain in strength and feel better. I had a bad cold and it settled on my lungs, leaving me unable to breathe. I used your medicine and it didn't seem to help me any; so I commenced using your Golden Medical Discovery. I feel like a different person. I gladly recommend your medicine to all sufferers, for I know it cured me."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice, paper cover, sent postpaid on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. C. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Obituary.

Died, at her home near Garrettsburg, March 21, Mrs. Melissa Garland, aged 52 years.

She was a devoted Christian lady, beloved by all who knew her. Her life was devoted to doing good to those around her. She died as she had lived, trusting and believing in her blessed Master, and the end of her useful life was peaceful and full of hope of a blissful immortality. She had a lovely and lovable character, and amid the trying vicissitudes and bitter disappointments in life, by her steadfast, unwavering faith in her Master. She was a devoted, affectionate mother, ever ready with words of sweet counsel and tender advice, to guide the footsteps of her children in paths of righteousness. Her life was like a beautiful psalm ending in a sweet benediction. As her sorrowing friends and relatives looked for the last time upon her calm, peaceful face, which seemed to be surrounded by a halo of glory, the thought involuntarily came into our minds, "O death, where is thy sting, O grave, where is thy victory?"

We would not call her back if we could, for we know that she is in that bright and happy land where the storms never blow and the tear of sorrow never fall.

Although she is dead, and no more on earth will we hear her loving, cheerful voice, we know that her sweetest influence will be felt, and the memory of her pure Christian life will ever serve to remind us that it is not all of life to live nor all of death to die.

Call not back the dear departed. Anchored safe where storms are o'er. On the border land we left her. Soon to meet and part no more. Just beyond this world of change, Just beyond this world of care, We shall join our smiling loved one In our Father's mansion fair.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is commended by Statesmen, Professional men and thousands of others prominent in the world's activities, for its fine discrimination in sifting the actual news from conflicting reports and the presentation of current events in their just proportion. They comment on its freedom from daily-paper sensationalism. All men and women who want to know what the world is doing find it an intellectual necessity, to judge from the letters received from hundreds. Its editorials are comprehensive, and labor saving to the busy man or woman. Its timely contributions on important topics are by the best-informed writers. Its reviews of other magazines give the best of their best work. It is profusely illustrated.

These letters will enable all thoughtful men and women to judge of its value to them.

PRESIDENT

Lucky Denver School Children.

Since Colorado gave suffrage to women, Denver has been appropriating year by year larger and larger sums for education. At present it spends more upon the maintenance of its public schools, per capita of the population, than most of the bigger and richer cities of the United States.

Last year Denver spent $4.69 per capita on school maintenance alone, besides a large additional sum for the building of new school houses. Out of 125 cities in the United States that have a population of more than 30,000 persons, 128 spend less per capita on their public schools than Denver. Rev. Florence Kollock Crocker has a brother who is a teacher in Colorado. She reports him as saying that before women got full suffrage it was very hard to secure adequate school appropriations; but that now, whenever anything is needed for the schools, it is obtained with comparative ease. This recalls the answer given by Theodore Roosevelt a few years ago, upon being asked why he had recommended woman suffrage in his message to the New York Legislature. He said that in his home town of Oyster Bay there had long been great need of a new school house, but all efforts to secure one failed until the mothers were given the right to vote on the question; then they voted the new school house at once.

Mr. Edward Atkinson says along this line:

"In recent studies of the place problem, my attention has also been called to the proportion of the literate and illiterate in several sections of the country and to the lack of adequacy of common school instruction. In the States in which violence, lynching, the denial of human rights exist, we find the maximum of ignorance and illiteracy among whites as well as blacks. This is coupled with the lowest ratable expenditure for common schools. The only sure remedy for these wrongs is in the extension of the common schools by which the rest of the country has been redeemed and partially civilized. Now, who have been the principal agents in laying the foundations of good government in these common schools? The true standing army upon whom rests the safety of this nation consists of the four hundred and odd thousand teachers in our common schools, seventy (70) per cent. women, thirty (30) per cent. men. If women may rightly be charged with the duty of preparing voters to vote with intelligence in the ratio of two to one, cannot they be trusted to vote themselves on equal terms with those whom they themselves have instructed?"

LYNCHED AT FULTON,

White Man Victim of Mob Law In Tennessee.

Fulton, Ky., April 10.—Frank Taylor, Deputy Marshal on the Tennessee side of Fulton, was shot and killed last night at 7 o'clock by Tom Blackard, aged 23, a farmer, residing near Dukeford, Tenn. At 10:30 o'clock Blackard was taken from the jail by a mob and hanged from a bridge where he was afterwards found dead by officers and citizens.

Will Cavender, a saloon man, was accidentally shot in the leg in attempting to capture Blackard.

The Four D's.

Charles Spurgeon once said that there were three great enemies to man—dirt, debt and the devil. He might have added one more and included dyspepsia. The evil results of this disease can hardly be exaggerated. Its effects are far-reaching and are as far-reaching as the curse that was laid on the Jackdaw of Rheims which was cursed in sitting and standing and sleeping and eating and drinking and lying. The good effects of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical discovery are most marked in aggravated and chronic cases of dyspepsia. It enables the stomach glands to secrete the necessary quantity of digestive fluids, and that at once removes the gnawing sensation that is common to indigestion. It tones and regulates the stomach and gives the blood making glands race assimilative power. It cures 98 per cent of those who use it. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are superior to other medicines when the bowels are obstructed.

TALKS LIKE PARROT.

Philadelphia Canary Is Indeed a Most Wonderful Bird.

Cannot Only Pronounce His Own Name, Which Is Dewey, But Is Learning Other Words—State of His Own Accord.

From an ornithological as well as a patriotic standpoint, Dewey is a name to conjure with.

The parrot who watched the admiral's courtship and who, having learned to greet the distinguished sailor, achieved amazing conversational fluency, has already been written of. But this parrot has now a rival in the shape of a Philadelphia canary who is a namesake of the admiral and a credit to the name.

This accomplished bird, says the New York World, belongs to Mrs. William Lacey, of No. 2134 Master street, Philadelphia. He is a native of the Harz mountains, and is now nearly 12 years old. Not until about three years ago did he manifest his unusual power, although he has always been considered remarkable on account of the extraordinary volume and sweetness of his voice.

He had been called George, but when Admiral Dewey's name became a household word the famous surname was added, at first half in jest. But Dewey is a name much loved in the Lacey household, and so eventually the name George was dropped and the bird became known as Dewey.

So it happened one morning, as his young mistress stood in front of his cage petting and talking to him, she laughingly called him several times by name, saying "Dewey, Dewey, Dewey."

He was so surprised, Dewey put his little head on one side and repeated the words after her quite as plainly as she herself had uttered them.

Since then Dewey has acquired several other easy words and with them a remarkable degree of intelligence. His mistress will come into the room with the question, "Where is Dewey, dear?" And, with the p syllables of a child, the bird will answer: "Here's Dewey, dear," following with such a burst of canary melody as will cause a stranger to stand spellbound with enjoyment.

THE TALKING CANARY.
(His Mastery of Language Is Causing Considerable Wonder.)

There is nothing remarkable in the appearance of this little songster except that when he is talking or singing he shows a very unusual throat development.

The muscles of his throat will enlarge until they stand out on each side, forming globules almost as large as a small hickory nut, and then they will contract until his throat seems very much smaller than that of an ordinary bird.

When Dewey is at rest, however, there is still an unusual amount of fullness around his throat.

In everything he Dewey is just an ordinary canary bird, with all the willfulness in taking his bath and scattering his seed that other birds show.

Inasmuch as the newest Dewey is a canary, his mastery of language must be considered more remarkable than that of the justly renowned Loretto, who, while Mrs. George Dewey was still Mrs. Michael McLean, made matters so interesting in the McLean household.

Loretto is a very handsome Mexican bird, with brilliant green and yellow plumage, red bill and shining black eyes. It may be easily imagined that at one period Loretto heard a great deal about Admiral Dewey, and she was not slow about applying it. No sooner would the admiral enter the home than a mocking voice would call out:

"Bah for Dewey! Hal! Hal! Hal!"

This greeting never varied. Loretto would recognize the admiral by his step as well as his voice, and each time would shriek out the welcome that was no doubt intended to be cordial.

Loretto has also a fine sense of humor and greatly enjoys a pun, which cannot be said of many parrots. For instance, she would inquire, solemnly: "Dewey, do you ever?"

"Well, what's the answer?" the visitor would ask her.

"Yes, by George, 'Hal! hal! hal!'"

Loretto would shriek with delight.

At this period Loretto became quite famous in newspaper prominence, and when the door bell would ring she would look wise and remark:

"Be that's another reporter!"

"Don't you like reporters, Dewey?"

"Bah for Dewey! Hal! Hal! Hal!"

Loretto is now a member of the Dewey household.

Portrait of Mr. Arnold.

A portrait of the wife and child of Benedict Arnold has just been hung in the rooms of the Pennsylvania Historical society. Mrs. Arnold followed her husband to England, and her son—the one shown in the picture—became a lieutenant general. Four of her descendants are in the British army.

MISS STONE

Arrives at New York Ready to Lecture.

Will Describe Her Captivity and Strive to Return Ransom Money.

New York, April 10.—Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary, who, for nearly six months, endured captivity by Bulgarian brigands and was released recently upon the payment of $72,000 ransom, was welcomed back to her own shores to-day.

She arrived on the steamship Deutschland, which docked in Hoboken shortly before noon. She was greeted at the dock by Foreign Secretary Barton, of the American Board of Foreign Missions; Charles C. Cregan, New York Secretary of the same missionary society, and Maj. Pond, who will conduct Miss Stone upon a lecture tour.

Miss Stone said that she had had a rough trip and suffered from seasickness. The effect of her captivity, she said, had worn off.

MISS STONE DESCRIBED HER CAPTIVITY.

"The day I was captured was a market day and one which is considered safe to travel. Our party consisted of ten people and three drivers. We were suddenly surrounded by armed men. Mr. Tsilka was the only one armed, and the women persuaded him not to shoot. Only Mr. and Mrs. Tsilka and myself were taken. The others were left behind. Who our captors were I never knew, but they were Albanians, Greeks and Turks. I have not the least idea what they will do with the money.

"Most of the time we traveled at night, and I had no idea where I was. I never heard of any pursuers nor did I see any. There was no personal cruelty heaped upon us. The brigands held to the ancient European custom that to harm a young mother and child was a terrible wrong, and it was from this that we were spared because of Mme. Tsilka's baby, which was born in captivity.

"One night I was walked for eight hours with Mme. Tsilka's baby strapped on my back. Mme. Tsilka told me that I owned half a share in that baby. The reason that Mme. Tsilka was taken was that the brigands desired a chaperone for me."

Miss Stone says she felt that it was the prayers of the world that had saved her, and she felt more than pleased at her reception. She said she would go at once to Chelsea, Mass., to see her mother.

Maj. Pond, who will take Miss Stone on a lecture tour, said that all money made on the tour would be used to repay those who had contributed toward the ransom. Miss Stone was dressed in a dark blue cloth dress and wore a plain black bonnet. She was given a rousing reception by many friends at the pier.

The "400" of Congress.

There will be only eight seats to spare in the House of Representatives when the quota of 392 members is filled. There are now exactly 400 seats in the House at the Capitol, and one Senator with a merry grin facetiously remarked: "Talk of exclusiveness in the Senate! It is in the House that you find the '400.'—Joe Mitchell chap in the March 'National'."
